Evutec Corp., a manufacturer of mobile phone and tablet cases made of advanced composite materials, has unveiled in Apple Inc.'s retail stores two new lines of cases for the iPhone 5, iPhone 5s, iPad and iPad Mini.

The mobile case manufacturer designs its covers to look good and protect mobile devices. Key features include:

- High-style concept cases are light and durable.
- The two new lines of cases are made from Dupont's Kevlar and wood.
- Composite cases have a manufacturer's suggested retail price starting at $39.95.

If you purchase a Kevlar model, Evutec will not guarantee your mobile device can take a bullet, but the hardened cover will protect it from drops and knocks from normal wear in the real world.

Evutec is based in Walnut, Calif.
