@Biron5k Bummer. I like Clean Writer a lot. Use it on both my iPad and Mac. 10 minutes ago

@Biron5k Pages is good, but too bloated for what it is, but obviously not as bloated as MS Word. 25 minutes ago

@Biron5k It really depends on what you need to do. I (@RPadTV) like CleanWriter Pro for writing and Google Docs for collaborating. 25 minutes ago

Would You Like an iPad With Your Buffalo Wild Wings?

NEWS Posted by Raymond Padilla, 7 hours ago

Have you ever eaten at a Buffalo Wild Wings restaurant and thought, "Man, I'm enjoying the wings and beer, but that waiter sure is an annoying sun on the beach!" A solution is at hand, courtesy of the Apple iPad. The restaurant is beta testing a program where customers can order food and drinks, play games, update their status on social networks, etc. on the iPad instead of having to deal with a waiter or waitress. Read more details and vital analysis (wings and beer are vital, after all) below.

Verizon and Coinstar (Redbox) Form Joint Venture for New Video Service

NEWS Posted by Raymond Padilla, Yesterday

Verizon and Coinstar have announced a joint venture to start a new video service that will launch in the second half of 2012. The service will combine Coinstar's Redbox kiosks with a streaming-and-download service by Verizon. The mobile component of the service will be available to anyone, regardless of whether Verizon is their mobile carrier or not. The companies are hoping to serve up a powerful one-two punch that will compete with Netflix, which offers streaming video and physical discs by mail. Check out more details below, as well as a rumor on pricing.

Google Implements Android Market Bouncer For Improved

Life Hacker

The Unofficial Apple Weblog

Security

NEWS Posted by Raymond Padilla, Yesterday

One of the nice things about Android Market is that it's open. Being open gives more developers freedom to publish apps and allows more consumers to enjoy them. One of the bad things about Android Market is that it's open. Being open allows spyware, malware, and trojans to sneak in. Google is aware of the issue and has implemented a new feature called "Bouncer" to weed out any naughty apps hiding among the innocent ones. Read on for more details on Bouncer for Android Market.

CNN Tackles Apple and Foxconn

NEWS Posted by Raymond Padilla, Yesterday

Here's a video by CNN that adds a personal story to the controversy on Apple and Foxconn. While a lot of the information is old, CNN makes the situation easier to identify with by interviewing a female Foxconn employee. The interview subject revealed that it's forbidden for Foxconn employees to grant interviews; at best they'll lose their job and at worst they'll face criminal charges. The anonymous employee also says that Foxconn employees are treated like "animals". Watch the entire video below.

Your Favorite Super Bowl XLVI Tech Commercials

NEWS Posted by Raymond Padilla, Yesterday

Advertising was generally tame for Super Bowl XLVI. A lot of people felt that the commercials were played out or tired. There weren't any Apple advertisements making viewers cry (deaf people signing on FaceTime always tugs on heartstrings). That said, there were a handful of tech-based ads that stood out. Check out the videos below and leave a comment with your favorite Super Bowl XLVI tech commercials.

Dolphin Browser HD for iPad Review

REVIEW Posted by Parisa Vassei, February 2nd, 2012

My first experience with the Dolphin Browser was in 2010, when I was seeking an alternative browser for my Motorola Droid X smartphone. Dolphin was one that was recommended by many users in the tech forums I frequented and it soon became my go-to browser for viewing web content on my Android phone. Naturally, when I learned that Dolphin had released its sister iPad app, Dolphin Browser HD, I had to give it a shot. A year and half has passed since my first experience with the Android browser and it seems that Dolphin's developers have come a long way and achieved true success. With a whopping 10 million downloads, the #1 spot for PC

Magazine's "The 40 Best Free Apps for 2011" and the #2 spot on the CNet 100, Dolphin Browser is a popular browser alternative for various platforms. Fortunately, it's even more amazing on the iPad.
